Mikalojus Konstantinas Čiurlionis (1875–1911), a composer and artist who has left the foremost signal mark in Lithuanian culture, is a unique creator in the history of European art.

Čiurlionis' painting was rendered more abstract by the application of the structural and compositional elements of music. Nevertheless, none of the so-called 'musical' paintings could ever be considered a totally abstract work of art, for he was always concerned with idea of the cycle, its 'plot' communicated through symbolic links between separate motifs. The ideas of his paintings are generalised (journey, creation of the world, ruler of the world, element of nature, cosmic order), linked with mythology, Lithuanian legends, fairy tales and folklore.

Decoflux, established in 2005, is an international luxury lifestyle brand. It offers beautifully designed items that embody luxury and sophistication. All bed linen products use premium materials and products themselves are made in Lithuania. They reflect the country's rich heritage and craftsmanship
